

Gavin Wilson photo

Drum Song

Vietnamese folk musician Ngoc Bich plays a trống, a traditional Vietnamese drum, during a recent performance at the Institute of Asian Research. Ngoc and fellow musician Khac Chi teach a course at UBC on the performance of Vietnamese music which is sponsored by the School of Music and the Centre for Southeast Asia Research (CSEAR). Both Khac and Ngoc are virtuosos on a variety of folk instruments. They studied and taught in Vietnam and have performed around the world. They were joined in this performance by CSEAR staff member Julie Trang Nguyen and UBC student Tokunoh Yuko.